We believe that patients with burn wounds and other skin lesions deserve excellent care. Therefore we supply perfectly designed burns treatment baths which meet the strictest requirements with regards to hygiene, durability and ergonomics.

We supply three types of burns treatment baths:

- High-low bath
- High-low elongated bath
- Stationary bath

The high-low bath provides an ergonomical working position for the therapist and the patient, which improves the overall effectiveness of the therapy. For the treatment of taller patients, there is an elongated high-low bath, which is especially practical for the treatment of facial skin wounds.

The stationary bath is very suitable for mobile patients who are more or less self supporting. Due to the large size of this bath it is more suitable for total immersion, floating or drowsing.

The burns treatment baths are made out of hygienically disinfectable stainless steel AISI 316 with a perfect finish, meeting the highest standards for hygiene and durability.

Give burn patients the care that they deserve with an EWAC Medical burns treatment bath.
